

Spring is in the air and the end of the school year will be here before you know it! Congratulations to our neighboring school districts of Lake Holcombe, Gilman, New Auburn and Ladysmith for passing the referendums in their school districts. The lack of a public school revenue limit increase this year and next year along with quickly rising inflation is taking its toll on all schools financially. While the federal government provided some financial assistance to schools, it came with a lot of restrictions, requirements and red tape as well as extremely different amounts/student among school districts.

What we really need to help us financially are more students! If you know of someone looking for a great elementary school to send their children to with small class sizes and the highest academic achievement around, currently our largest group for next year only has seventeen students. Our middle school students get a lot of exploratory time our shops and our high school students have a plethora of college classes available for them to choose from to the point that they don't even need to be on our campus their senior year.

We have a lot of great things going on in the Cornell School District and we appreciate the support the community provides us to make this all possible.
